

music is a diminished run moving up the neck. Try the following and see if you can hear the train coming.

I only show one position because as you move the form up the neck, they overlap. Simply put the bar where your pinky used to be.

Figure 6.7 Diminished Run